

GAS PRICES IN THE U.S.

The average price for gas in the United States is $3.48 per gallon (as of October 29, 2012)

DOMESTIC

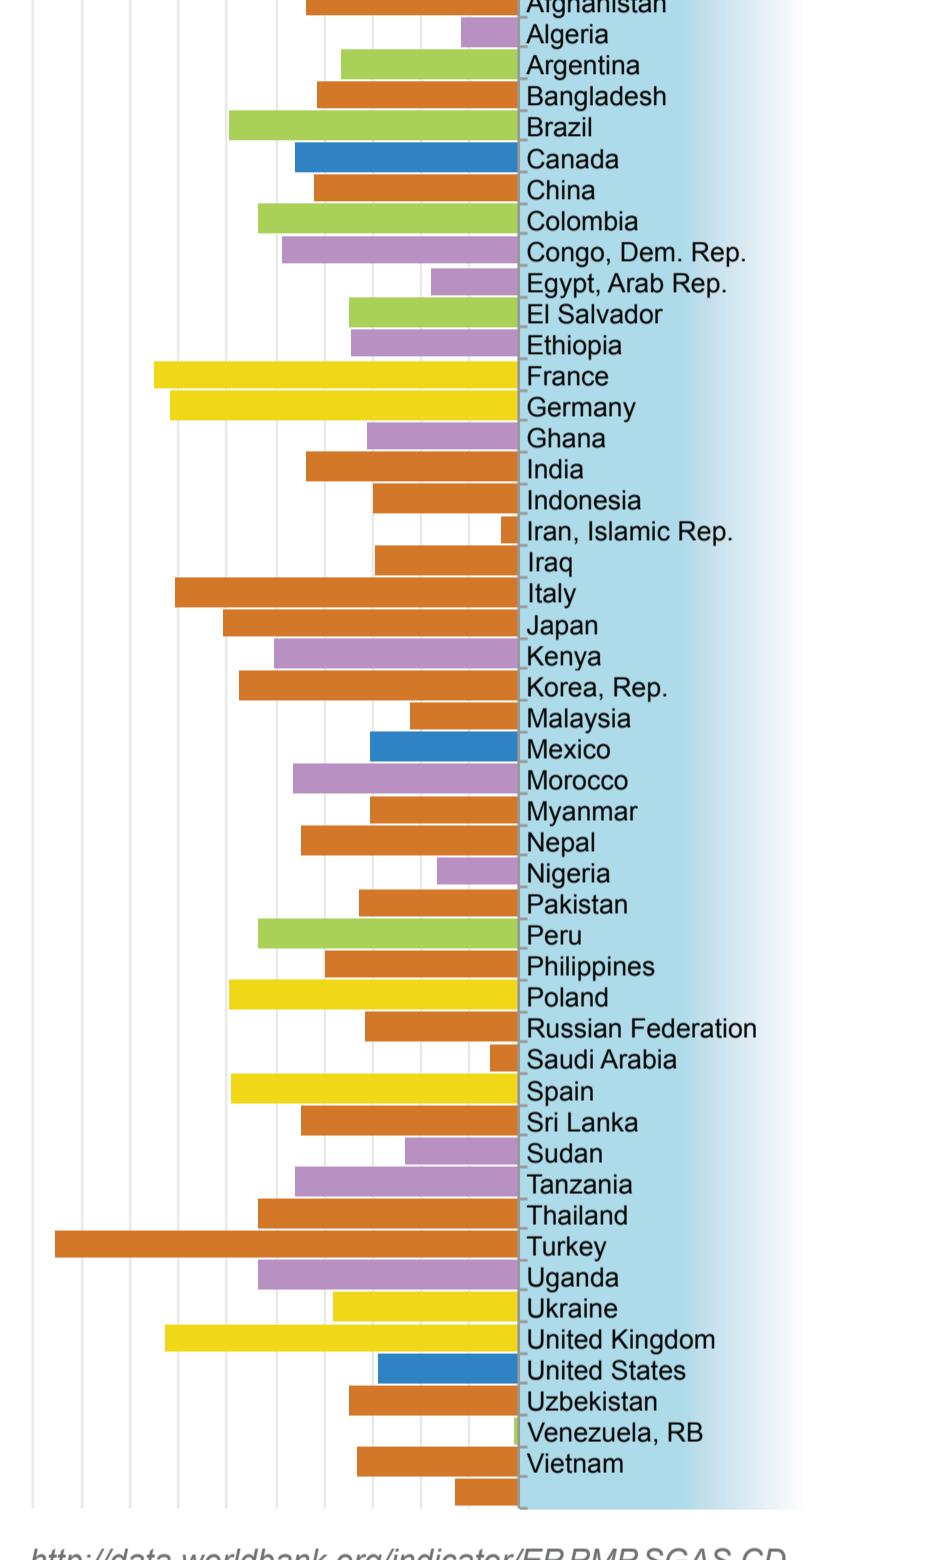

States Ordered By Increasing Gas Prices

October 2012, http://www.gasbuddy.com/GB_Price_List.aspx

INTERNATIONAL

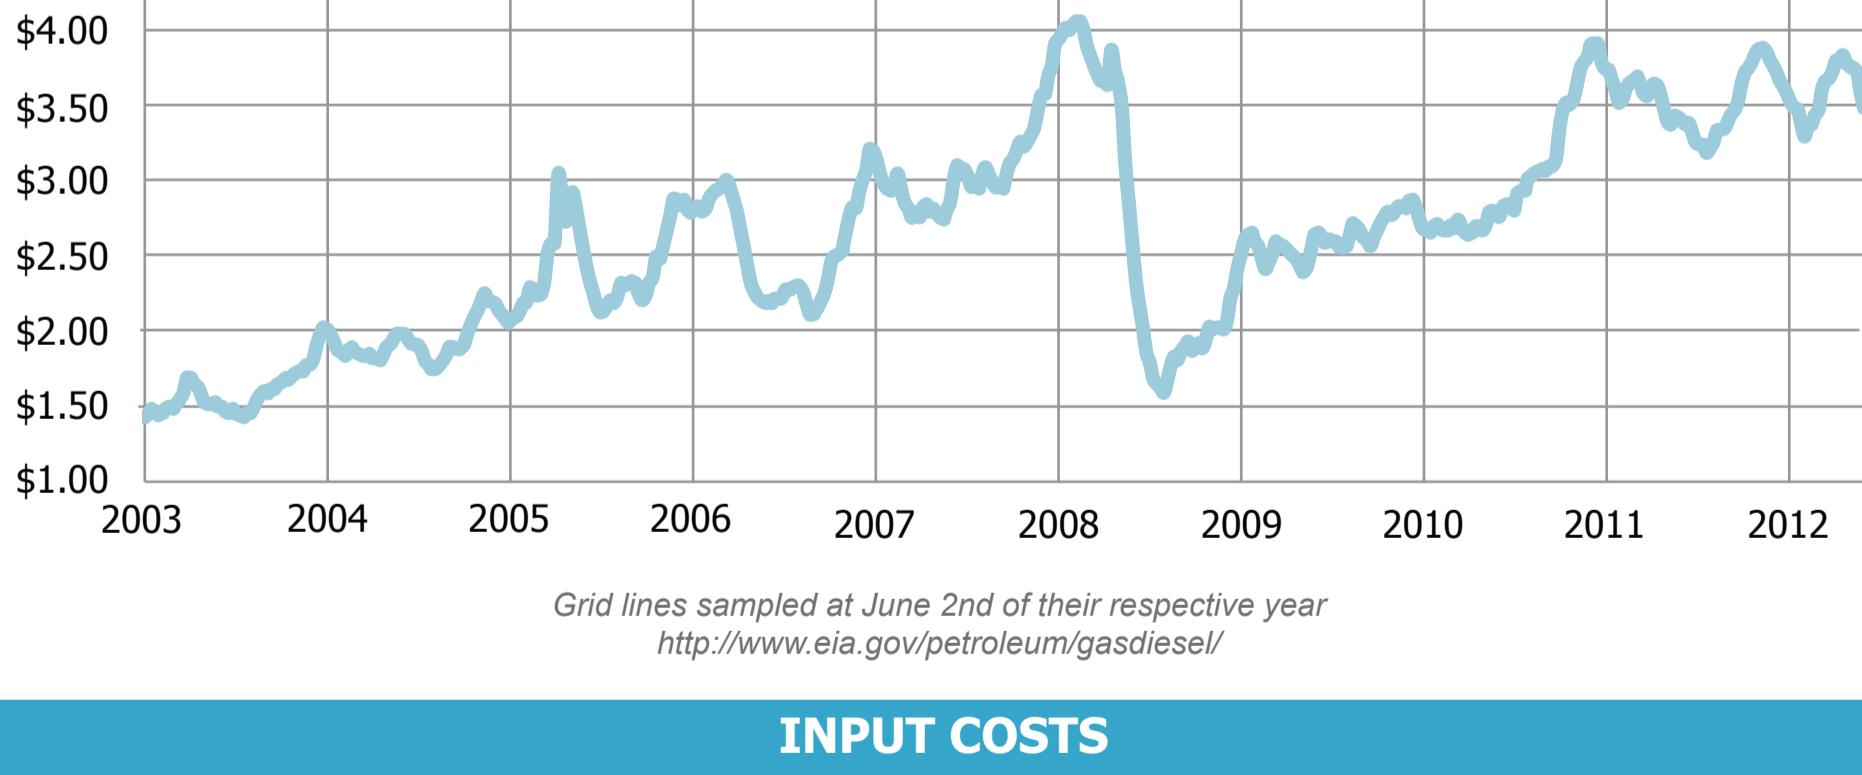

50 Most Populous Countries
Ordered Alphabetically

<http://data.worldbank.org/indicator/EP.PMP.SGAS.CD>

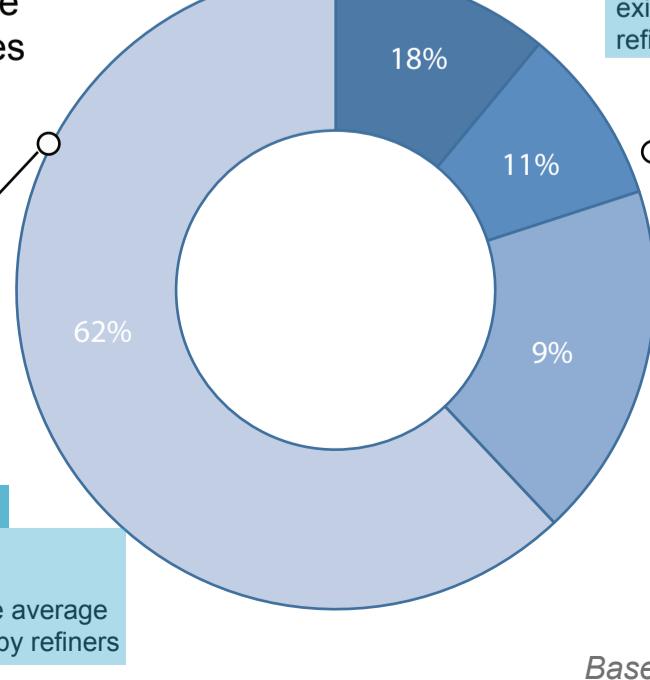

IN THE PAST

Average Price of Gas in The United States from 2003 to 2012.

INPUT COSTS

This is what your money is going towards when you purchase gasoline in the United States

the monthly average of the composite refiner acquisition cost, which is the average price of crude oil purchased by refiners

Refinement
the difference between the monthly average of the spot price of gasoline or diesel fuel (used as a proxy for the value of gasoline or diesel fuel as it exits the refinery) and the average price of crude oil purchased by refiners (the crude oil component).

Taxes
a monthly national average of federal and state taxes applied to gasoline or diesel fuel.

Distribution
the difference between the average retail price of gasoline or diesel fuel as computed from EIA's weekly survey and the sum of the other 3 components.

Based on September 2012 prices, where gas costed $3.85

<http://www.eia.gov/petroleum/gasdiesel/>